A FAMILY AFFAIR.

BY HUGH CONWAY.

Author of "Cuffed and Cured" and "Dark Days."

When it was chosen.

From the informal meeting between Lady

Chambers and her daughter-in-law, the young lady, by means of their signs and tokens, the manner of which was about the most complete, showed the state of her mind as clearly that was to the truth was there to them looked.

And still was in fashion—hundreds of characters in a deplorable thing, directly responsible for the better part, who had the excitement of the information contained in a whole life. Margaret's life was something to a happy one.

It was a little while who was used to home—the girl for her unreasonableness and stubborn spirit, and was of resignation to the best of her. Margaret for realizing with all an injured woman's pettiness and spiteful Margaret for the thoroughly unlike manner of letting things drift.

They did drift with a vengeance! The truth between the two ladies soon became known to the world. The household was in a state of confusion. Lady Chambers was in the proper position to present her daughter. Margaret for realizing

TIRED OUT!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
THE BEST TONIC
It is the most powerful and reliable of all tonics. It is the most powerful and reliable of all tonics. It is the most powerful and reliable of all tonics.

Settled the Bill.
A circuit rider in a neighborhood with which he was unacquainted, stopped a man in the road and asked:

"My friend, can you tell me of a place where a preacher can stay all night without money and without price?"

"Yes, in the woods." "Of course, but can't you tell me of some house?" "Yes, (pointing) that one up on the hill."

"Will it cost me anything?" "Not a cent." "Thank you, I'll do so."

"I don't want to stay in a vacant house. Come, now, good man, tell me of a place."

"Wall, I will. Go about two miles down this road, then turn to the left. The first house you strike will be called Sam Potters. He'll take you in."

"That will be charge anything?" "Not a cent." "Thank you, I'll do so."

"I am a thousand times obliged to you."

"Thank you, I'll do so."

"Kneer learn you preach, but but pain't by the way you talk, I reckon you air or no preacher?" "I mean that I haven't any more."

"Not my fault." "That's all very well but I can't pay you."

"Then I'll have to take it out of your hide." "Look here, my friend."

"Oh, I'm looking. Oats to keep my eyes on you."

"I say that a man told me that I could stay here without charge."

"Yes, but I won't the man."

"I really can't pay you."

"What after eatin as much as you have? W's, person, you can make a table look the delicatest apartment any man I ever seen."

"The very first pass you made, the hind leg of a shod disappeared, and then you made a motion of the last point of hatter we had, and it wasn't no longer for this here arth."

"I admit I was hungry, but—" "Oh, you needn't admit it, for I soon discovered that fact."

"This is surely a very awkward position. I really do not know what to do."

"Settle up, is the only advice I've got to offer."

"But I really can not."

"Then some of your hide must come off."

"I wish you had more soul."

"Yes, an' I wish you had more money."

"You certainly would not commit an act of violence merely for a few dollars."

"Yes I love I would."

"My friend, I'm on my way to feed my flock, and—"

"I reckon you think me've been feedin' yourself. W'y, that dish of cabbage turned pale every time you looked at it. I can stand or good drink, but when a virtuous cyclone comes along it breaks me up."

"I am occupying a terribly awkward position."

"Dinner await, then."

"If you'll let me off I'll send you the money."

"No, I'm ordered that after you begin to feed your flock you won't think me a sliver like me."

"Well, I declare I am in an awkward position."

"Yes, so I've heard."

"Is there no way by which we can settle this affair?"

"Oh, you pay up."

"Just let you I have no money."

"Yes, so I've heard."

"Well, as you have driven me to the wall I suppose I must fight you."

"That's my ticket. Take your seat."

The preacher took off his alpaca coat, pulled it up and put it on a bench, then he deliberately rolled up his shirt sleeves, he said:

"Just step this way, please."

Mr. Potters stepped that way and was promptly knocked down. He got up just in time to be knocked down again. The next time he got up cautiously and tried to seize the preacher, but was knocked flat on his back.

"Hold on, please," he said, getting up, "the little post look here." He continued, brushing himself, "you've got to sit down with me before you go. At first I didn't think you had much religion, but now I know that you are one of the elect. I join take the person's horse back to the stable, kn't afford to let you go. Best man I ever saw. It was old Bill Blomson that told you to come over here, and he has been thakin round off the morning to see you whipped. Say, what business was you in before you junter fight?"

"I was a prison fighter," the preacher replied, as he seated himself and smoothed back his hair.

The Record of the Democratic House.

In a partisan debate spring upon the House in its closing session by the Republicans, who desired to put on record a baroque resolution showing what the Democrats did not do, Mr. Randall summarized the results of the Democratic legislation as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, we are all about to return to the people who sent us here, and the record of this House will be weighed and measured by them. The results of our action will be carefully scanned, and the elections will show whether in the popular judgment the party in control of this House to-day should receive the respect and approval for the future of the American people. Let me recite a few of the results of their legislation."

"We have referred to the public domain millions of acres of public lands sought to be lawfully kept by insatiable corporations, reaching 50,000,000 acres."

"We have entered upon the work of constructing a new navy. We have passed every act that we have been asked to pass for the purpose of bettering the condition of the working people of the United States. We have not in a single instance, so far as I remember, passed through the House a bill in favor of monopolies. We have given the female opportunity to join with us in passing an interstate commerce bill which only forty years ago on the other side dared to vote against. But for the delay involved in the present proceeding on the other side, we should probably have reached an opportunity of passing a bill to increase the pensions of our armed and one-legged soldiers."

"Finally, I say deliberately that the appropriation bills as they have passed this House are so far as I know, free from misapprehensions or unnecessary precautions, than they have been in any Congress since the war, whether this remark applies to the appropriations reported from the committee over which I have the honor to preside or those emanating from the other committee having charge of appropriation bills. Whatever may be the result of the next election, I venture to say we have done as well that we ought to commend, and I believe will commend, the confidence and approval of the American people."

"Say more when we make thousands and thousands of working people throughout the United States were idle. Even in my own city the number ran up to tens of thousands. But to-day, as far as my information goes, no knowledge, there are few laboring men who want work and cannot secure it (applause) and I add that this is due in a large degree to the conduct which this Democratic House and Democratic Executive in direction of good government have given to the American people." (Applause.)

According to an English statistician five men now live on so much work as six in 1816, and eight in 1830.

The first printing press in America was in the City of Mexico, in 1563. There were then 300 printing offices in Europe. The second press was set up in Lima, Peru, and the third in Philadelphia, in 1740.

A query frequently comes up in our mind when traveling over different portions of this State and in building the largest engine of locomotive here and there, large areas of fertile land waiting for the industrious hands of men to develop them, and make them happy and prosperous homes. Why the overestimated fertility of Pennsylvania and New York do not seek these fair lands in the Rocky Mountains, far away from the frost and snow lands of their youth.

Our climate is much more mild, our money and full money longer, our winters much shorter, and of course, it requires less labor and much less expense to keep both family and live stock the year round. Our lands will produce equal to the best of the old States, and a much greater variety of products.

We can hardly understand why people will pay $50 to $100 per acre for land up in those frost bitten and barren sections, when better land can be had in our own State for $5, $10 and $20 per acre.

We have a distinct recollection of our long hard days, spent in December usually, in the cold winters and deep snows, of the long cold springs, that creep along near the middle of May before they would let go their icy fetters.

We have made frequent trips back to the home of our youth, only to increase our love and admiration for the blue hills of West Virginia, its mountains and valleys and that give us health and vitality.

The Institute.

The Institute held recent sessions at Martin's Butte, September 15th.

It was jointly presided over by Co. Supt. H. M. Lockridge and Prof. J. W. Hinkle, with M. G. Mathews and J. Woods Price, Rec. Sec's, and Chas. Cook, Cor. Sec. About 40 teachers were in attendance, from first to last, making it the largest meeting yet held.

A very long communication would be required to do full justice to the subjects discussed and the ability evinced by persons who took part in the discussions.

Tuesday evening Supt. Lockridge led off on the question "How to secure larger attendance in the public schools?" This was participated in by Messrs. Bug, Gillipie and others.

Kindness to children and sympathy with them in their amusements and friendly visits to the homes of the parents, were recommended as judicious and influential means of awakening interest and securing an upward full attendance.

Immediately after the question of compulsory attendance was taken up—Must universal attendance be reached by the enactment and enforcement of a compulsory law or through the education of public sentiment? This was led off by Wm. T. Price in the affirmative, and opposed by J. Woods Price, Henry Barlow, Supt. Lockridge and others. The sentiments of the body were strongly opposed to compulsion.

On Wednesday evening Newton S. Druffey led off in an excellent address upon "Theory and Practice." (See program pp. 13 and 16). Messrs. Dwyer, Henry, Prof. Kerr and others took prominent parts and the topic was well handled in a spirited manner. The Institute seemed to favor few rules but strict observance of the same. Opinion was divided as to how far the teacher should exercise authority and oversight.

Prof. Kerr would restrict the teacher's authority to the school grounds; the others seem to feel they were responsible as far as the home goes, where the public road was left. Once on parental premises the pupils passed from under the teacher's authority.

A subject not in the program—"Necessity of more effective cooperation of teachers, patrons and school officers"—elicited earnest and timely remarks from Prof. Hinkle, Supt. Lockridge, J. B. Henry and Woods Price.

Mr. C. B. Grimes presented interesting remarks upon penmanship.

Mr. Woods Price led off in an alphabetical exercise that showed he had given the matter much study.

Prof. Kerr's lecture on "Science of Teaching" was a masterly effort.

The school was defined to be an institution where the young are trained to habits from which proceed the issues of life—for habits control and direct the destiny of individuals in all practical affairs.

On Friday morning Prof. Hinkle lectured on "Education and Instruction."

It was a masterly presentation of the mind and its department. In all the writer has ever listened to open rational discussions when the mind was discussed, he has never heard a better effort upon mental philosophy, for practical utility. It should be published and scattered everywhere among the schools.

The analysis sketched upon the board would make a most admirable chart for the school room.

The personnel of the Institute was very interesting. Many of the school and young people of the county are conscientiously engaged in preparing themselves for their work, and there is a hopeful future for the school interests. It is expected that there will be over 800 students in operation this winter in the county.

The Adjoining resolutions were adopted.

1. Resolved, That the Legislature be requested to make it unlawful to grant a number three certificate more than once to the same applicant.

2. That the Legislature be requested to make it lawful for Teachers who may have attended county Institutes for full terms, to teach 30 days for the school month, while those who neglected to attend be required to teach 22 days per month.

3. That it is the sense of this Institute that no person should be voted for as County Supt. who does not show by his active cooperation full sympathy with the public school system, and moreover that no persons should be supported for members of the Board of Education who do not pledge themselves to promote the interests of common school education.

That to enhance the usefulness of the schools it would be wise to extend the school term from four months to six months in the county of Pocahontas, and Co. Supt. is hereby respectfully requested to ascertain whether such an extension is practicable.

4. That the members of this Institute would hereby express most hearty their grateful appreciation of the faithful and efficient services of the county Supt. H. M. Lockridge and highly instructive lectures delivered by Prof. J. W. Hinkle, aided by Prof. Kerr, during the sessions of this body. These gentlemen deserve far more from the teachers of this county than a mere formal recognition of services so faithfully and acceptably rendered for their improvement and assistance in their all important work.

6. That the thanks of this body be cordially tendered the trustees of Martin's Bottom Church for the use of this house, and also to the citizens of the vicinity for the entertainment furnished at their homes.

Wm. T. Price, Com.

J. B. Henry, Sec.

S. N. Druffey, Resolutions.

Resolutions looking to the extension of the course of study, compulsory attendance, where trustees should deem it best for the educational interests of such children, as might be hindered by parents from going to school, and discretionary use of other series of text books than McGuffey's, were rejected.

Prof. J. W. Hinkle offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Institute are due and are hereby tendered Rev. Wm. T. Price for his instructive and highly entertaining lecture on the subject of morals and manners and how they should be taught in our schools.

Your correspondent was most favorably impressed and edified by the exercises, and many new ideas were received that will be of much practical use as well as a source of pleasure.

He hopes the teachers will make use of your paper as a medium of interesting their views and thus enhance its usefulness as a county journal.

Yours as ever,

UNCERTAIN.

From all sections of the county come cheerful and encouraging accounts of the revival of business. It is not in the nature of a boom, but a legitimate and healthy activity, which promises to last—Indefinitely.

Those who are saying we will have an revival of business until a hospital is elected President should take courage from the above clipping from the leading Republican journal in the State.

Fiduciary Notice.

The following Fiduciary accounts are subject to be audited:

John M. Bussard, Administrator of Ed. Bussard.

John M. Bussard, Administrator of Peter W. Bussard.

J. W. Bussard, Jr., Clerk of the Court.

It would be a justifiable act on the part of Judge J. W. Bussard, Jr., to demand money enough of the Register to run the campaign, for putting such a horrible picture of him in that paper.

Order of Publication.

As rules held in the Clerk's Court, Clerk's office of Pocahontas County, at New Va., on the first Monday in September, 1906.

The Power of Democracy

During the past four years an unprecedented opportunity will be afforded the democratic party to test the sincerity of its avowed adher-ents. Not every man who stands at his post when his ship strikes smoothly over an untroubled sea can be relied on as a true sailor, but such only as braves the duty when the sky is dark and the bil-lows sweep over the deck are given the name. So it is in the political voyage. Adverse winds have troubled the waters and the waves of defeat are lashing against the sides of the great old democrati-cism. The man who now deserts loy in the crowd, but he who remains unmoved by the sights and sounds of clouds and breakers may be more trusted by his party as warrior and sailor. The faith of a true democrat can be shaken, but his soul cannot be. A political retirement of four years. Thousands there are who for a quarter of a century kept and defended their democratic faith, though during that entire time defeat was their portion. So now, and for all time to come, the man who is a democrat because he believes democracy is right, and who lives his policy because to him it seems best for his country, will not be discouraged and forsake his principles because his opponent has triumphed, but with firm and steady step will search forward without faltering and without shadow of turning, impelled by an abiding faith in the ultimate triumph of his party. There is a class of men, it is true, who for the sake of political preferment or a financial gain will swallow any creed you may dish out. Others still, on amount of disappointed aspirations or for the purpose of avenging a real or imagined wrong, will repudiate their principles and make of themselves political rogues, but the rank and file of the democratic party is not made up of any such element. On the other hand, her adherents are such as have cast their lot with her forever, and no successes of democracy could induce them to abandon their faith. Talk of the democratic party being dead!

Her tents are imperishable. She may be trampled upon for generations of her generation, but will eventually rise to make a more determined effort, she may be the victim of reaction, but no post mortem examination can ever be held. She may for awhile be subdued, but only to gather strength in her almost repose and come forth again in greater power. No, democracy is not a mere champion of the past, but is even now training for the great fight, and when that fight commences she will be in the ring in better trim than ever before. The man who now deserts her because of her temporary defeat is unworthily to remain, and his going is a wholesale betrayal.

General Cleveland is worth about a quarter of a million. That is the estimate of a well advanced personal defect. He had something like $100,000 when he became President he had practiced law profitably for many years, had held the honorary office of sheriff in Buffalo, had lived well while his income was fourteen, and had enjoyed his privileges. During his first years of his first years of his first years of

The Race for the Spoils

When the democratic race took place four years ago, after waiting four years in the wilderness, they exhibited an appetite for office that was altogether uncharacteristic under the circumstances. But it was nothing to the hunger and thirst that have developed among the Republicans

One of the striking features of the present political situation is the unanimity with which the idea of civil service reform has been glorified. It seems to be agreed that all such now tangled notions have been retched out, and there is not the least protest in any quarter that the spoils do still belong entirely to the victors.

It may be interesting, about next

March, to recall some of the abor-ations made four years before on the subject of reform. From office, to say nothing of the sincerity of party platformers, many while. But this interest will be rather historical than practical. It is now accepted that the effort being in the south and it must be acknowledged that the senate are not back ward in coming forward to claim them.

Huntersville, W. Va.

Dec. 13, 1888.

A recent public test of the consolidated railway telegraph system of train telegraphy, made on the Raleigh Valley railroad, gave very satisfactory results. On a train moving sixty miles an hour, messages were sent and received to and from other trains on the road, and communication was had with this city and with different stations on the line.—Boston Budget.

President Cleveland's last message to Congress is before the people, and the almost unanimous verdict is that in wisdom and ability it compares favorably with his former state papers which have given him high rank as a statesman. Those who expected the President to abandon the reform ideas of his previous administrations will be very much disappointed when they read his message. He is not the kind of a man to forsake a principle, because it happens to be somewhat unpopular, but has the courage to declare what in his mind is right, as opposed by the entire people.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION.

It is now given out that Cardinal Gibbons favors the suspension of Sunday work in the Government's mail and military service and on the interstate railways. He has written a letter to that effect which will be made public at the next meeting of the Senate Education and Labor Committee on the subject, to be given during the forthcoming meeting of the American Sunday Convention in this city.

The question is thus made to assume an importance that it has never reached before. The Catholic and Protestant churches in the country were substantially united in support of legislation looking to the observance of Sunday in the manner indicated. It will be difficult for Congress to resist so powerful a consensus. Yet it is worth to be doubted whether the moral benefits gained by the stoppage of Sunday mail and railway traffic would justify the many important and wholly necessary interests that would be sacrificed thereby.

The question is somewhat complex one and will not admit of easy or simple solution to a religious campaign. While it might be possible by an act would the country some week throw off its enormous business and return to the quietude and simplicity of a country life, it is much to be questioned whether a general cessation of the wheels of trade and transportation on that day would tend to make us a better or more God-fearing people or advance the standard of true piety.

The subject will be considered by all its bearings at the approaching convention and no doubt excite a wide-spread interest.—Washington Post.

The race for the Speakership of the House is beginning to warm up. Already some good thoroughbred Democratic stock has been entered and there may be more to follow. Hon. SPRIGGS, Hon. H. P. CHASE, Hon. W. E. LIVERY, Hon. C. F. LEWIS and Hon. Joe Woods have all been favorably mentioned, and none would be adverse to the honor. They are all good men and true, and the House could make no mistake in selecting any one of them.—Wheeling Register.

The New Chief Justice.

The Chief Justice sits between Justices Miller and Field. To the latter he rarely or never speaks while on the bench, but he frequently consults with the former. Between Miller and Fuller there appears to be a close fellowship, and the low Justice has been a sort of mentor and adviser of the new chief. When in doubt about anything or lacking in confidence in his knowledge of court etiquette or precedent it is to Justice Miller that he invariably turns for counsel. Probably there never was a more alert man than the Chief Justice on the bench. Lawyer-like, he is fond of consulting authorities, and occasionally he writes a long note and sends it by a page to one or another of the Justices who sit far away to be whispered to, but he catches every word that is uttered by the lawyers. Nothing escapes him. He likes to smile over his glasses at an attorney, and generally is inclined to relax the stiff dignity of the great tribunal.—Chicago Tribune.

In an address before the Georgia House of Representatives, Senator Colquitt, who is a tariff reformer and was re-elected, while Henry W. Grady, the high tariff candidate, withdrew, said: "It has been whispered in this hall that since the defeat of the Democratic candidate for the Presidency we should abandon our principles, repudiate the declaration of our State Convention and county meetings, and of the 90,000 Democratic majority of the State. I am proud to know that the General Assembly of Georgia has not been reduced into a betrayal of her professed principles. The resolutions of the talented members from Bibb, unanimously adopted by this body, give assurance that you stand steadfast and immovable. Only a trimmer or a traitor would abandon the effort to reduce the burden of taxation because of our defeat. We will not desert our post because it is difficult to hold. We will not fly to the rear in the presence of danger. In our fidelity to a cause to test only so long as we can rejoice in its triumph! Are our convictions so faint and heartless that they will be abandoned because of temporary defeat?"

Mrs. Ellen Fearing Sherman, the wife of Gen. William T. Sherman, died Wednesday at her home in this city. She had suffered from heart trouble for many years, and had been especially ill from this cause during the last few weeks. On Sunday her condition became alarming, and Dr. Pepper of Philadelphia was summoned to consult with her attending physician, Dr. Smith. Mrs. Sherman continued to sink steadily, and since Tuesday morning had been unconscious. Mrs. Sherman was a daughter of Gen. Thomas Fearing of Ohio. She was well known as a very active and devoted member of the Union Catholic Church, in which one of her sons is a priest. She was one of the founders of "Peter's Palace" in America. From 1878, shortly before he died, sent to her a gift of a golden cross, with a piece of the "true cross" set in the center. Her son was still four years, and her husband was 84 years of age. She leaves two sons and four daughters. She was buried at St. Louis Cemetery.—Y. Min.

Poverty.

When we talk of poverty we introduce a subject with which most of us are familiar yet, while it is so common, it is something about which many people entertain mistaken ideas. One false notion is that poverty is itself something to be ashamed of another equally unfounded is that it is itself something to be proud of. Like wealth, the possessor deserves praise or blame not on account of his poverty, but on his own account. The honor due us cannot be measured by the abundance of our possessions nor the extremity of our want, but in each case is to be determined solely by the conduct that has fixed our condition. When riches have been accumulated by honest toil and temperate economy they even their possessor with honor and may be justly contemplated with pride; if, however, they have been acquired by corrupt and unscrupulous practices, or if they be the hoardings of the selfish miser they bring no credit to the owner. So it is with poverty, the victim of misfortune or he that in the uselessness of his heart exhausts his resources in the performance of noble deeds, has no need to blush on account of his meager possessions, but the man who is forever kept poor by extreme indolence or needless self-indulgence ought to be ashamed of his condition.

There are two classes of persons who are of little good either to themselves or to their country, viz: those who want to own everything and those who don't try to own anything. Of these, however, the man of greed is to be preferred to the man who makes no effort, for the energy and activity necessary to the accumulation of riches are a safe guard against certain vices that naturally result from laziness. The man who lives solely for gain and is successful, contributes something, though unwillingly, to the support of his government and is too much absorbed in his own purposes to meddle with the affairs of other people. It is not true of the indolent. His country receives no benefit, and giving himself no concern about his own affairs, he has a great deal of time to devote to things which do not concern him, thus making of himself a public nuisance. Aside from this, that poverty which comes of laziness is prolific in the generation of crime. The man who thinks himself entitled to live without labor is greatly deficient in that principle that makes good and self-citizens, nor is he often too good to resort to almost any means of supplying his natural wants, which he fails to supply legitimately.

But we have been discussing the willfully poor in the other hand, among the poorest are to be found very many of our best and most prize-worthy people. Many things that influence the affairs of life are beyond the control of humanity and it often happens that by misfortune the most deserving fail, while the unworthy succeed. Hence men should be judged by their purposes, so far as we are able to know them, and by the efforts they make, and he who means well and tries valiantly to be honest though ever so poor, while he that is wrong in purpose and effort should command from us no respect, though the owner of millions.

The Negro's Race Problem.

The negro problem is of vastly more importance to the South than any other question or issue that can be raised. It is more important than Protection or Free Trade; it is more important than tariff reform; it is more important to the South, individually and collectively than even the fundamental principle of Democracy. It is not a question of partisanship, it is not even a question of politics, though the prejudiced hatred of the South have striven to make it so. It is a vital and immediate question that cannot be adequately described in all its dangerous bearings and aspects. It is a question that can be settled definitely and peaceably only by the patience, the moderation and the wisdom of far-seeing statesmen. Every thoughtful man is willing to admit that the solution of the South is an unfortunate thing in some respects. It practically assures a solid North, and deprives this section of the political power that, under ordinary circumstances it would wield in the Government. Nevertheless, this reality is not only necessary, but inevitable. It is not based on sectionalism, nor, at bottom, is the compact a political one. It is simply the result of a situation pregnant with doubt and danger—a situation which can not be remedied by the politicians.—Atlanta Constitution.

JOB WORK.

INVENTION.

Revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. For instance, any one can do the work, either man, woman or child, in special skill required. Capital not wanted; you are started free. Call this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Great profits from Address: Trye & Co., Augusta, Maine.

HOME NEWS

Head Jake Bower's new advertisement.

—H. M. Lockridge, Esq., was in town last Friday for the first time since his protracted illness. He is not yet entirely recovered, but very much improved.

—Last week Dick Hayes, Esq., of Split Rock passed through Huntersville on his way to Millboro with five large deer that had been killed in the Elk neighborhood.

—We are informed that a rail road is now being located from the White Sulphur up Anthony's Creek toward Huntersville. We hope it is true. The outside world has certainly been shut off from Huntersville long enough.

—Gen. W. Wagner has purchased the Hotel, Pocahton County, W. Va., and J. C. Loney, Sr. and Jas. H. Loney have bought the Huntersville Hotel of J. H. Simpson. Not a good day for selling hotels either.

—A recent letter from Rev. H. W. Klemm, who left Huntersville Wednesday last, announces his safe arrival at his home in Lewisburg and a continued improvement in his health. We trust his recovery may be speedy and permanent.

—Indices of the press—old and new, take notice that we have on hand at the Hunter Office all kinds of official blanks, which can be had cheap for cash. Send in your orders and they will be promptly filled.

—Various and conflicting reports are in circulation concerning the disappearance of Nelson Moore, which was most used in the TIMES last week. Some think he has left the country to escape trial, while others believe he has been secretly put to death. The truth may never be known.

—On the first page of this issue will be found a synopsis of the President's recent Message to Congress, taken from the Baltimore Sun. The Message is a document of such length that we could not reproduce it fully for want of space. The extracts from the Sun are accurate and substantially set forth the most important parts of the Message.

—In this issue appears a notice of an entertainment to be given by the students of the Hillside Male and Female Academy, on the evening of Dec. 21st. Prof. Lister, who has charge of this school, deserves great credit for the manner in which he is conducting it. The people of Pocahton County should see to it that he is well supported in his worthy enterprise.

—As will be seen from the communications of Yvonne, the girls of the Hillside Training School, of White Plains, N. Y., are in general well given to entertainment on Christmas Eve. Miss Blumner seems to be building up a school of high order, which work should commend itself to all good citizens and prompt them to lend a helping hand.

WANTED

Desired three white, males and three females for sale or exchange. A. P. Lister, Hunter in Leather, Harpers, and also, etc. Huntersville, W. Va.

—A letter from a reliable party living at Edinboro dated Dec. 10th, contains the following:

"Among many of the people of this district it is thought that Nelson Moore has been fatally death with. A company is being organized to go in search for him. It is supposed that, if killed, his body was taken into the Black Mountain Wilderness. Some of the circumstances of his disappearing look very suspicious. He left with no money at all, and had on his old and badly worn clothing. His family know nothing about him and are greatly distressed. No says current and reliable report."

NOTICE.—The students of Hillside Male and Female Academy will give an entertainment in the Academy building Friday evening December 21st, 1893, in celebration of the Christian Literary Society. An admission of 25 cents (patrons and officers of the school excepted) will be charged the proceeds to be appropriated toward defraying the expenses of additional necessary furniture to the school room.

REMARKS

Mr. Blumner Kinsaid, who has been ill for some time, we are glad to say, is able to be out again.

DATE. We wish her success.

Miss Elva Ford is calling on friends in this neighborhood. Halfway men around here, look out for the iron horse. We are sorry to hear that Mr. J. B. Canfield the former editor of the TIMES is going to leave us, but as he has decided to go, we wish him success and also the new firm.

Dec. 10. PHIL O. BOPHER.

Nov. 20th, 1893, at the residence of the bride's parents, by the Rev. Geo. P. Moore, Mr. Oliver S. Sharp and Miss Catherine J. Cochran, all of Pocahton County.

MARRIED.

At the Huntersville Hotel, Wednesday morning Dec. 20th, Mr. L. M. McClintic and Miss Allie Blumner were quietly united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Wm. T. Price officiating.

The attendants were Miss Minnie Gammon of Odessa, Mo. and Miss Lizzie Ligon of Clover Lick, Mr. Harry Patterson, of Huntersville and Dr. McClintic, of Edinboro. The bride looked very sweet in a handsome costume of tan colored cloth elaborately trimmed in gold and brown plush and brown and cream hair.

Miss Gammon was becomingly dressed in an olive green Duchess satin, prettily trimmed in bronze green high braids.

Miss Ligon's costume was a dark blue silk, extensively ornamented with bronze light ornaments.

The groom and groomsmen wore the conventional black dress suits. After partaking an excellent breakfast the bridal party proceeded to the house of the groom, where a splendid reception was held.

The bride is well known in society circles as a most charming and beautiful lady, and the groom is to be congratulated in winning such a fair and worthy bride.

The groom is one of Pocahton's most promising young men. The majority be attached at the recent election to the office of Presenting Attorney, is an evidence how he is honored and esteemed in this county.

May their life be as bright calm and serene as their wedding day, and may prosperity and happiness ever attend them.

NONE NEWS

—Well, there it is again I thought I had it done. But down I wrote it on.

—The County Court meets again tomorrow to attend to unfinished business.

—Miss Mary Curry, of this place has gone to the Lewis to attend the Academy.

—The child of Jas. Harris, (Col.) aged about five months, died last Friday night.

—The snow storm set for the first week in Jan. by the prophets has been postponed on account of the weather.

—In this issue will be seen a card announcing a change to take place in the firm of J. C. Loney & Son, on the 15th day of Jan.

—Peter L. Cheek, Esq., of Knapp's Creek, has been right sick for some time. He is now said to be improving slowly.

—Mrs. Margaret Jackson, wife of Jas. H. Jackson, Esq., died at her home on Elk last Saturday night, of dropsy of the heart.

—Capt. Shober, who has just returned from Elk, reports that two Mr. Gilmores, from Indiana, are visiting at Mr. Wm. Gilmore's.

—The wife of W. W. Arligast made him a New Year's present of a fine baby. Very appropriate indeed.

—During the last two weeks we have received so many monthly school reports for publication that it is impossible to give place to them, as we have concluded to make no deductions and omit all. How this explanation will be sufficient to satisfy those who have sent in reports.

—Literature, as illustrated weekly magazine, published by John B. Alden, 200 Pearl St., N. Y., at 50 cents a year, is one of the best and cheapest literary productions of the age. The extremely low figure at which Alden's books are sold is wonderful. The reading public owes him a liberal patronage on account of the satisfaction he has brought about in book making.

—A few of the Hendersonville boys are in the habit of doing the boy in the ridge across Knapp's Creek for a shooting gallery. Now that the bridge is open for travel this practice should cease as there is great danger of frightening horses. We are satisfied it is done thoughtlessly and no harm is intended, and to leave all the boys need to be have their attention called to the matter.

—We see from the Valley Messenger that Daniel O'Connell, Esq., who has been in charge of the law for some time on Anthony's Creek, was very badly, if not seriously hurt last week while attempting to cross the creek on a jam of logs. It seems that the logs broke loose, and coming down suddenly caught and rebound him, injuring him internally. The same paper also says that Mr. George Blakes, book boss of the H. Lawrence Book and Mig. Co., had his leg broken, while at work on the river.

—A crime and conflicting reports concerning Simon Munn are being circulated. Of the last we have heard, one is that he was killed and his body thrown in a clean engine, and another that he was shipped in the dead state and found in a goods box marked "Polly." If the first report be true it was foul play, and if the second be correct it was still foul play.

—A one monster or enormous proportions was seen by Capt. Rho last week in the Greenbrier river. The Capt. thinks it was an Alligator. When seen it was going up the river towards Galford's mill passing the water and he like a snay plow.

LATER: A monster was seen in the river near Levi Gay's, at 17 miles past 3 this morning. Excitement intense.

—In this issue will be seen an account of the entertainment given to the Hendersonville Training school. This should have appeared in last week's issue but was omitted by accident. The Misses Bluerer, who are in charge of this school, have good cause to be proud of their success. The school is very much larger this year than it was last, and is patronized by some of our very best citizens, all of whom, as far as we have heard, are well pleased. There is no reason why it should not continue to grow and widen its influence.

Seahar's Creek Items.

Xmas and holidays are gone accompanied by leap year. We are sorry we have to give the boys possession of the next four years.

Miss Bertha Sharp who has been sick for sometime is improving.

Messrs Albert and Gilbert Sharp and Perry Jackson, who spent holidays visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity returned to their work near Hillsboro last week.

The Literary and Debating Society which met at Lively Dale school house last Friday night was largely attended.

Jan. 7. PHIL. O. SORPHER.

Elery Notes.

Miss Sarah Sharp, who has been critically ill with Pneumonia, is improving slowly.

N. G. Barlow has been quite ill, but is now better.

J. O. Warwick is off for Charles town this week.

Black-leg has made its appearance among the calves in this neighborhood. A full half pint of Spirits Turpentine given in sweet milk to a calf when first attacked, will save it, as your correspondent can attest from experience.

Hillsboro Wags.

Mr. E. L. Holt is off on a business trip to Randolph. He was accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Mary Darst, who will visit Mr. H. W. Holt of Mingo Place.

Mrs. John Peters has been visiting her children at the H. T. School the past few days.

The Division of the Boys of Temperance at this place, are doing good work. Every week new members are added. We had the pleasure of attending a public meeting given by them, on Saturday night. The exercises were very interesting. It consisted of Public Installation of the officers. J. H. Weirford gave his experience as one who had realized the dreadful effects of whiskey. W. B. Overholt made an excellent speech on Intemperance. The exercises closed with music and the reading of the Temperance Journal. This band of workers are engaged in a good cause, and we hope to see every lady and gentleman a member of this Division.

Hillsboro Training School Entertainment.

The following is a programme of the entertainment given by the girls of H. T. School on Dec. 24th, 1890. Long before the time for opening a large audience assembled at the public school building. There was not one vacant seat when the exercises opened.

PART I.

RECITATION. Christmas is here—Chorus. Hail of H. T. School—Tablino. Belle Brown—Vocal Trio. Lullaby—Chorus and vocal three.

STYLISH, three acts. PASTORAL. I want to be somebody's darling—Vocal Solo. Recollections of childhood—Tablino. Brief scene—Tablino.

PART II.

Sleeping Beauty—Tablino. In the Starlight—Vocal Trio. Virginia as it was and as it is—Tablino. Son, sit on the Hind—Tablino. Waiting and Watching for Three—Vocal Duo. Prayer.

The County Court.

The County Court convened on the 1st day of January. The first day was mostly consumed in the installation of the new County officers.

Levi Gay was allowed $22.00 for services rendered in cases of lunacy during his term of office.

Randolph Harris was allowed $20.00 for making road to the bridge near Huntersville.

A settlement was made with Sheriff J. C. Arligast and ordered to be recorded.

It was ordered that H. V. Hill appear before the Court on Friday, January 11th and show that he is eligible to qualify as Sheriff of Pocahontas County.

A rule was awarded against Levi Gay, late Sheriff of the County, returnable on January 11th to show cause why he should not be proceeded against by the County for failure to make settlement as required by law.

H. S. Tucker and F. J. Snyder were appointed to examine the Clerk's office and make report to a future term of the Court.

The following official salaries were fixed for the term beginning January 1, 1891:

Sheriff, $175.00; Jailor, $75.00; Assessor, $125.00; Prosecuting Attorney, $150.00.

Wm. H. Anidridge was appointed Superintendent of the Marlinton and Lewisburg Turnpike on the sections now in charge of J. L. Cleek.

Amos Hatlow was appointed Superintendent of the Knapp's Creek Bridge near Huntersville, with authority to keep same in repair.

The land owners along the Greenbrier river and Thorey creek road, and the Swage and Hatlow road, are summoned by the Court to appear before it on the first day of the next regular term to show cause why said roads should not be established.

Court adjourned till the 11th day of January, at 11 o'clock.

James McMillan, of Detroit Mich., has been selected to succeed Bruce Palmer in the U. S. Senate.

McMillan is a millionaire manufacturing of Detroit.

Judge Flemming's Attorneys have served notice of contest on Geo. Goff. They claim to be able to establish beyond doubt that 1640 illegal votes were cast for Goff.

This makes work for the Legislature.

Some of the leading colored politicians are clamoring for Cabinet recognition. They say it is time the republican party should give some such substantial evidence of the professed love for the brother in black. The colored man has got to learn that he is not wanted in the republican party for any purpose but to cost his vote.

NOTICE. Do and after the 15th of January 1891, the firm of J. C. Loney & Son will have disbanded. By that date the accounts due the firm will be ready for settlement when we hope all who know themselves indebted to it will come forward and pay at least a part of their indebtedness. HOME NEWS

—Well, then it is agreed I thought I had it done, but down I wrote it too, instead of no.

—The County Court meets again tomorrow to attend to unfinished business.

—Miss Mary Curry, of this place has gone to the Levens to attend the Academy.

—The child of Jas. Harris, (Col.) aged about five months, died last Friday night.

—The snow storm set for the first week in Jan. by the prophets has been postponed on account of the weather.

—In this issue will be seen a card announcing a change to take place in the firm of J. G. Loney & Son, on the 15th day of Jan'y.

—Peter L. Creek, Bro. of Knapp's Creek, has been right sick for some time. He is now said to be improving slowly.

—Mrs. Margaret Jackson, wife of Jas. H. Jackson, Esq., died at her home on Elk last Saturday night, of dropsy of the heart.

—Capt. Sachs, who has just returned from Elk, reports that two Mr. Gibbons, from Indiana, are visiting at Mr. Wm. Gibbons.

—The wife of W. M. Arlberg made him a New Year's present of a fine big baby. Very appropriate indeed.

—During the last two weeks we have received so many monthly school reports for publication that it is impossible to give place to them all, so we have concluded to make no distinction and print all. Hence this explanation will be sufficient to satisfy those who have sent in reports.

—Literature, an illustrated work by magazine, published by John H. Allen, 303 Pearl st., N. Y., at 50 cents a year, is one of the best and cheapest literary productions of the age. The extremely low figures at which Allen's books are sold is wonderful. The reading public now has a liberal patronage on account of the revolution he has brought about in book making.

—A few of the Huntersville boys are in the habit of using the new bridge across Knapp's Creek for a shooting gallery. Now that the bridge is open for travel this practice should cease as there is great danger of frightening horses. We are advised it is done thoughtlessly and to harm is intended, and to have their attention called to the matter.

—We see from the Valley Messenger that Daniel O'Connell, Esq., who has been in charge of the law for some of Aldridge's Creek, was very badly, if not seriously hurt last week while attempting to cross the creek on a log of logs. It seems that the logs broke loose, and some log down suddenly caught and crushed him, injuring him internally. The same paper also says that Mr. George Hunter, owner back of the St. Lawrence House and Mfg. Co., had his leg broken, while at work on the same.

—Various and conflicting reports concerning Nelson Moore are being circulated. Of the last we have heard, due to the fact he was killed and his body turned in a stream engine, and another that he was shipped to the State penitentiary in a goods box marked, "Fruit." If the first report is true it was told play, and if the second is correct it was still just play.

—A Mrs. Mosley of Fairmont proposition was made by Capt. Simpson last week to the Greenbrier river. The Capt. think it was an offer of marriage. When Mrs. M. was going up the river towards Gishard's mill passing the water and her like a soap bubble.

LAYERS: A minklet was seen in the river near Levis last 11 minutes past 2 this morning. Extensive interest.

—In this issue will be seen an account of the entertainment given to the Hillsboro Training school. This should have appeared in last week's issue but was omitted to avoid. The Misses Moser, who are in charge of this school, have good cause to be proud of their success. The school is very much larger this year than it was last, and is patronized by some of our very best citizens, all of whom, so far as we have heard, are well pleased. There is no reason why it should not continue to grow and widen its influence.

Seuthard's Creek Home.

Xmas and holidays are gone, accompanied by Leap year. We are sorry we have to give the boys possession of the next four years.

Miss Bertha Sharp who has been sick for sometime is improving.

Messrs Albert and Gilbert Sharp and Perry Jackson, who spent holidays visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity returned to their work near Hillsboro last week.

The Literary and Debating Society which met at Lonely Dale school house last Friday night was largely attended.

Jan. 7. PHIL O. SOPER.

Every body.

Miss Sarah Sharp, who has been officially ill with pneumonia, is improving slowly.

N. G. Barlow has been quite ill, but is now better.

J. C. Warwick is off for Charles town this week.

Black-leg has made its appearance among the calves in this neighborhood. A full half part of Spiritus Turpentine given in sweet milk to a calf when first attacked will cure it, as our correspondent can attest from experience.

Jan. 8. X.

Winters' Hazing.

Mr. E. L. Holt is off on a business trip to Randolph. He was accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Mary Dantz, who will visit Mr. S. W. Holt of Mingo Falls.

Mrs. John Peters has been visiting her children at the H. T. School the past few days.

The Division of the Sons of Temperance at this place, are doing good work. Every week new members are added. We had the pleasure of attending a public meeting given by them, on Saturday night. The exercises were very interesting. It consisted of Public installation of the officers. J. H. Wehrd gave his experience as one who had realized the dreadful effects of whiskey. W. H. Overholt made an excellent speech on intemperance. The exercises closed with music and the reading of the Temperance Journal. This band of workers are engaged in a good cause, and we hope to see every body and gentleman a member of this Division.

The County Court

Levi Gay was allowed $22.00 for services rendered in cases of lunacy during his term of office.

Randolph Harris was allowed $20.00 for making road to the bridge near Huntersville.

A settlement was made with Sheriff J. C. Arbaugh and ordered to be recorded.

It was ordered that R. V. Hill appear before the Court on Friday, January 11th and show that he is eligible to qualify as Sheriff of Pendleton County.

A rule was ordered against Levi Gay, late Sheriff of the County, returnable on January 11th, to show cause why he should not be proceeded against by the County for failure to make settlement as required by law.

H. B. Hucker and J. J. Bayles were appointed to examine the Clerk's office and make report to a future term of the Court.

The following official salaries were fixed for the term beginning January 1, 1899:

Sheriff, $175.00; Jailor, $75.00; Assessor, $225.00; Prosecuting Attorney, $450.00.

Wm. H. Aldridge was appointed Superintendent of the Martinsburg and Lewisburg Turnpike on the sections now in charge of J. L. Clerk.

Anna Barlow was appointed Superintendent of the Knapp's Creek Bridge near Huntersville, with authority to keep same in repair.

The land owners along the Greenbrier river and Thorny creek road, and the Swago and Battif road, are summoned by the Court to appear before it on the first day of the next regular term to show cause why said roads should not be established.

Court adjourned till the 11th day of January, at 11 o'clock.

James McMillan, of Detroit Mich., has been selected to succeed Senator Palmer in the U. S. Senate.

McMillan is a millionaire manufacturer of Detroit.

Judge Flemming's Attorneys have served notice of removal on Gen. Goff. They claim to be able to establish beyond doubt that 1840 illegal votes were cast for Goff.

This makes work for the Legislature.

Some of the leading colored politicians are clamoring for Cabinet recognition. They say it is time the republican party should give some such substantial evidence of its professed love for the brother in black. The colored man has not to learn that he is not wanted in the republican party for any purpose but to cast his vote.

NOTICE.
On and after the 10th of January 1899, the firm of J. G. Loney & Son will have dissolved. By this date the accounts due the firm will be ready for settlement when we hope all who know themselves indebted to it will come forward and pay at least a part of these obligations. We need money badly to meet our obligations. J. H. Doyle will be received into the partnership—the style of the firm being Loney & Doyle the business to be under the management of J. G. WANTS TO BE KNOWN.

Nellie Arthur had a spotted skin pony for the apple of her eye.
Mrs. Purve was very fond of the black dog that her husband rode.

Mrs. Monroe brought the first white rabbit to the National pression.

Harriet Lane had a large sing-boud that was presented to her in England.

"Dolly" Madison's particular pet was a fine wild dog. At Montpelier she had a pet sheep.

Mrs. Adams had a great golden and one of a black bird, and her by a New England sea Captain.

Mrs. Hayes had a magnificent imported Japanese cat that was presented to her by a naval officer.

Martha Washington's chief pet was a beautiful green parrot. Mrs.
Washington was also very fond of a falcon.

Mrs. Grant had a "strawberry cow" that was a superb milker and supplied her table with milk and cream.

Mrs. Ellen, President Taylor's daughter, who presided over the White House until her father's death, had a splendid white owl.

Mrs. Cleveland's pet white cat White House was a beautiful rose which she found in the conservatory and which now lives her name.

An eagle occupied a cage at the manor for a part of President Polk's term, a gift from a political friend, and the noble bird was at last by Mrs. Polk.

Mrs. Jackson never presided at the White House, but a large black and white cow that had been brought when young and trained by one of her faithful slaves had the name of the household.—S. J. Ayres.

The Kind of a World's Fair.

Professor Brewer said, in a recent speech before the National Academy of Sciences. The English thoroughbred is a failed breed, and it has undoubtedly arrived at the result of its existence. There has been generally no new blood in this breed since 1700. This breed has been finished and completed in its present form, and it is now about, blood and other vital, and society, as to its speed, in which the last has been undoubtedly reached.

We have faster horses than our grandfathers, but it is not likely that our grandfathers had a faster breed than we have now.

In the case of trotters there has been a steady increase of speed.
The fastest record is 1800. Less than a dozen horses have been tried to beat this record.

The best record in running was made in 1800, the time being 24.

The speaker showed a table, on which were the number of horses in the last few years which had made a record within five seconds of this time.

The fastest that any horse has run in this record is 1.40, which was done last year. A very large number of horses have made their record but none. There are more that have made it fast time as those that have records, but not winning the race they get no record.
The record as it now stands may be lowered. When I said that speed had reached its maximum I didn't think but that better time would be made. I think about 1.30 will be the speed of runners. Hereafter breeders will be expected to keep up this high standard of excellence rather than to making better time. I believe the thoroughbred has reached his evolution—Washington Star.

The Horses Are Not All Dead.

It is generally believed in those prosperous days that horses are dying and dead, that the material of which mortars were made has all been exhausted, and that men are now controlled almost entirely by social molasses.

This is the common talk of the day—we hear it on the street corners and read it in our newspapers and novels; in fact we can not go anywhere without hearing some cynical expression of disbelief in the solidity of human nature.

We do not believe that the horse era is all dead. We do not believe that James Givens, who died the other day, was the last of his race. This man, Givens, was a common deck hand on the ill-fated steamer John H. Hanna. When the pilot house was on fire, the pilot unable to stand the heat of the flames, abandoned his post. At this desperate moment Givens took his place, and steered the vessel to the bank at the cost of his life.

This humble deck hand had no special incentive to urge him on.
He did not wish to live death to save wife, children or comrades. He was simply a poor, ignorant fellow who loved his kind, and his great heart would not allow him to seek his own safety when he saw five lives of his kind in danger. Diligent by the flame and smoke, he held on until the boat struck the shore.
He was willing to die in order that others might live.

From that time we have of such men as Givens, and this will be heard from again. God will not let such heroes perish entirely from the face of the earth. Their shining examples show like heaven lights, and when they lie down their lives for their fellows there will always be a light to guide their places. Men are not all selfish and heartless. In the higher walks of life we have our "Givens." God dwells in the middle class of our people, and among the humblest men as James Givens, the deck hand of the steamer Hanna. While these names are on every lip it will not do to say that our heroes are all dead.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Southern Immigration Convention has adopted resolutions requesting the Legislature of South Carolina to take comprehensive measures in the general plan to increase immigration. Toward the role of immigration. We are now reaching out the South is the coming great era of the country.

We have greater natural advantages than any other portion of the continent. The soil is richer, our climate healthful. Our climate for industry is completed; our society is reformed, and political freedom is the country. We are standing, our people are among the most graceful, hospitable and law-abiding in the world.

All the South has to do is to develop her natural advantages and to make her people more industrious, and to make her people more industrious, and to make her people more industrious.

At this point the speaker showed a table, on which were the number of horses in the last few years which had made a record within five seconds of this country.

To this end the Southern Immigration Convention has been established by the Montgomery Convention. It asks the aid of the Legislature of the States to be established.

The Legislature of West Virginia is about to attempt to do the same thing. West Virginia is probably the richest in natural advantages of all the Southern States, and has more to gain by increasing immigration and the other advantages proposed to the Montgomery Convention, whose proceedings we commend to the attention of each individual member of the Legislature.—Register.

An Odd Postal Regulation.

It is rather an odd thing that if you paste a printed slip on a postcard the Government will charge the receiver letter postage, while if the same matter is printed directly on the card nothing extra is demanded. The same slip which if pasted on a postal card would be charged extra for, may be put into an unsealed envelope and it will then go at printed matter rates, or the whole paper from which the clipping is taken may be sent, containing the article marked, at a much less rate than the Government would charge for the same article attached to the card. That is, the Government would rather pay four cents for a card than the four-fifths of an ounce for the same matter.—Detroit Free Press.

BY FATHER STEARNS.

Some reckon their age by years,
 Some measure their life by art, But some tell their days by the flow of their tears.
 And their life by the means of their heart.
 The dial of earth may show
 The length, but the depth, of years, Few or many may come, few or many may go,
 But our time is lost measured by tears.

Ah! not by the silver gray
 That creeps through the sunny hair, And not by the mosses we pass on our way—
 And not by the furrows the finger of care
 On forehead and face have made,
 Not so do we count our years, Not by the sun of the earth—but the shade
 Of our souls—and the fall of our tears.

For the young are oftentimes old, Though their brow be bright and fair, While their blood beats warm their hearts in cold
 O'er them the spring time—but winter is there—
 And the old are oftentimes young,
 When their hair is thin and white,
 And they sing in age as in youth they sing,
 And they laugh, for their cross was light.

But heed by heed I tell
 The roary of my years,
 From a cross to a crown they lead—'tis well,
 And they are blessed with a blessing of tears.
 Better a day of strife
 Than a century of sleep; Give me instead of a long stream of life,
 The tempest and tears of the deep.
 A thousand joys may foam
 On the billows of all the years, But never the foam brings the leaves back home—
 It reaches the haven through tears.

A Meeting.
 At a meeting of the citizens of the Little Level, held Thursday, Dec. 20th, 1888, Isaac McNeil being made Chairman, and W. H.
 Overholt, Secretary. A committee of three being appointed, consisting of C. J. Beards, Dr. J. A. Lane and W. H. Overholt to draft resolutions expressive of the objects of this meeting. The following resolutions were reported and unanimously adopted:

Resolved—That as citizens of the Little Level we are proud of the name and character which our people have acquired as a community, as a temperate, peaceful and law abiding people. That we recognize that the prosperity which has been vouchsafed, our community has been the result of good morals and good conduct of our people under the blessing of God. Therefore, desiring to preserve unimpaired the blessings we have so long enjoyed, and learning that there is no effort being made by persons who in disregard and open violation of our laws would introduce into our midst for sale and better intoxicating drinks, in disregard of every interest which is dear to the citizens of this community.

Resolved—That we desire to express publicly our indignation at the promoters and abettors of such an enterprise and earnestly request the co-operation of every good citizen in an effort to maintain the laws in their spirit as well as letter and to bring to punishment any one who would attempt to destroy the peace, prosperity and happiness of our people by selling intoxicating drinks in our midst.

Resolved—That we urge upon all persons who may be in any way connected with this nefarious business the wisdom and necessity of abandoning it at once. We entreat them by all that may yet remain sacred to them. In the name of our homes, our wives, our children. In the name of our young men, who are the light of our eyes and the hope of our country, as well as the pride and support of our age, containing them out with your soul and annual business. Demand now from of forts which if successful can only involve you with others in ruin for to save a god, lives your sin will find you out.

Resolved—That we warn all persons against engaging in any way in the sale or distribution of ardent spirits in our community and earnestly pledge our united support to every lawful effort which may be made to wipe out this foul blot upon the good name of our citizens and in opposition to those who in disregard of the spirit of the law and the known sentiments of every large majority of the citizens of this community, would introduce spirituous liquors in our midst; we will stand for our homes, our families, our good names, our property, and we warn them that we will find means to enforce our wishes, and in self defense use such means as God has given us to eradicate this evil.

Resolved—That after obtaining the signatures of the citizens of this community to these resolutions, that two copies of the same be posted at suitable places, and that a copy of these proceedings be forwarded to the Pocahontas TIMES with a request that they be published.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

ISAAC MCNEIL, Chairman.
 W. H. OVERHOLT, Secretary.

A Letter to the Public

To the Public I would like to say that my school has already succeeded beyond anything that I expected.
 Despite the most excellent Private school with its highly accomplished and energetic faculty my school has grown until now it numbers 30 on roll. I still appeal to the citizens of Pocahontas and adjoining counties for help in building up a school for them. No enterprise of any consequence is without opposition.
 Therefore, with brave heart, hard purpose, your help, and a firm trust in God I may make my coming a thing of success. Last week appeared in THE TIMES a program of an entertainment given by my girls and boys 34th Dec. 1888.
 The gift and humor were only in illustrate the firmness of the school and the progress of the approaching season, while the more solid and serious parts were to characterize the thoughts which should sometimes enter the deepest recesses of every heart.

I am well aware that much has been said about the entertainment and against it. But as it may one thing is true. I have given it twice before in different sections of counties and before intelligent people, and nothing of fault was ever made of it before. It is reported that Mr. Mr. Henderson stopped his children from my school because of the grand failure of the entertainment. I will give you the direct language of Mr. Henderson as to himself. "My (George), owing to some change to be made in the school over here, and because, this time as many recitations while at leaving your school. I will not send them any more, not that I have any objections to your teaching."

Mr. Henderson's words in my school were said from me and were never said about a while from this, on at school. He also told me that he had heard on one subject in my teaching. And in the course of conversation he told me that he was as much my friend as ever.

I am fully satisfied that the entertainment was all that it promised to be and that nothing of else was committed, in some way. I wish my neighbor who will and earnestly trust that the efficient faculty may be much to tempt and tempt through principles in those interested to their work for it is indeed a responsible position to be master of a school. Hoping to receive your aid I am yours respectfully, G. M. HENDERSON.

Ed. Times: I venture this letter (if you will allow the space it will occupy) not for the sake of notoriety, nor to see my name in print, but with the hope that it may be of some interest to your readers, and thereby cause better writers to contribute of their views and opinions on matters more interesting, and that will add subscribers to your paper. It appears to me that our business men, in fact all our citizens should give your paper every available aid, both by patronizing it and by contributing to its columns. Our people lack neither the intelligence nor the time necessary to furnish you one page of good readable matter each week. Some two years ago Col. Gatewood, of Big Spring contributed a very interesting article on the subject of Fines and Follies. I would suggest to the Ed. that another article on the same subject would be in order, as with two years experience he would give us facts demonstrated.

I am now very much interested in the subject of public school education, with my mind fully made up in favor of the former. I think there can be no question of doubt that schools will have to go but the process of change will of necessity be slow. Every reason demands their expansion, with more for retaining them, viz. safety to mankind as well as to the future themselves comfort to the cattle and their owners in pens, barns and especially in shipping; by not being afraid of each other they will better know grown animals become like calves, lie down close together, will not gether and as many water from the same trough as you get to it.

The most common way to get rid of horns is to breed them off, and there are several species of horn-less cattle that are very fine. I believe the polled Angus to be the best animal as the Durham or Hereford and quite as good or better for milk, and much harder than either especially adapted to our mountain ranges.

But for me I cannot wait for the slow process of breeding off the horns, so I have already selected 10 cows and a three year old bull about two months ago.
 They are now well over it, and are really improved in appearance. I shall finish up my cows and yearlings about the 1st of April, and head beside those already shown.
 I shall close by saying that on a trip last spring to and through Kansas. I know a great many distinct cattle of all ages, and met with a gentleman in terms and much more who was a Pocahontas boy—think Henderson, son of Dr.
 Henderson, (dead). He emigrated to Kan. directly after the war, and has been in the farming business for a length of time. From him I have all the process, and I am inclined to him for his interest in my advice while he lives.

Respectfully,
 F. A. BARTON.

Not in Tears

Not in tears, and do not be troubled with following the human track of others. Right on your path. And at higher education.
 Only the children are entitled with walking to the stars of heaven.
 On early education, depends the intellectual efforts of life.

Take the child that is surrounded with everything that the young heart desires, and there is nothing left for the exercise of the own process, nothing to expand the mind, and they never acquire that strength of mind which is necessary for creative activities.

On the other hand take the child that has no exercise. Give him a few articles and he will add others by his own exertions.

The child derives his highest pleasure from doing something for himself—and the forming of self consciousness, with the first feelings of reason and imagination. The heart and moral affections must be cultivated, as well as the intellect, to form a noble character. Man is the maker of his own mind. God has so dignified the human intelligence that it can only grow by its own action. So the child's intelligence grows by its own efforts, and becomes an ornament to society, and a blessing to the world.

WILLIE F. CLARK,
 Academy, W. Va.

Teacher's Adm.

Henry Ward Beecher is one of the latest sermons said: "To all the young that are coming into the church I say be young be gay, be hopeful, be cheerful. If God has given you a sparkling disposition, thank God and cultivate it. While it may not be the object of your life to have the joy that comes from these qualities, it is the privilege of your life to perform all your duties under his influence, and they can be performed in no other way so well.
 The world needs just such a development of Christianity. The world is full of sorrow it needs cheer. It is full of despondency; it needs hope. It is full of sorrowing; it needs courage. It is full of gloom; it needs a beautiful atmosphere sweet and holy and radiant. It needs a singing Christianity. It needs the message of Christ to be a light-house, and to men has the right to make a light-house, to go down and open the light to himself and family lines. They that carry a burden, a cross, a sorrow, a darkness, a gloom, it is contrary to his work. It is crying out loudly to the world that all hope, all the possible of the divine presence, all the love which is poured like an all-pious shower about us, to every day from the bosom of Jesus Christ, is love and peace. The man that carries a darkness, weary, exhausted, does not comprehend the religion of Jesus Christ."

Teacher's Adm.

 in order from down stairs to point a rock of life, the People's resistance for May. We have a very good one of it."

PORTMAN'S ADDRESS.

The New York World, and a few other newspapers of less importance, have lately made themselves very busy in publishing stories of the alleged connection between Cleveland and the Democratic party. A recent editorial of the World is very pronounced and bitter in its charges, and is a good specimen of what the press is capable of.

We do not pretend to say that Cleveland made any statement in this matter, but we do say that the World's story is a very poor specimen of journalism. It is a good specimen of what the press is capable of.

No doubt the considerable message to Congress, which occupied all the morning session, was the greatest feat of Cleveland's life. It was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

In this action Governor Cleveland was only doing what he should do. He was only doing what he should do.

The editorial of the New York World, denouncing President Cleveland for the overthrow of the Democratic party, was, as we have before shown, entirely unjust.

It is the one undisputed fact of the late campaign that was not a cloud in the Democratic sky when President Cleveland wrote his message. He said that message was a walk-out.

Judge A. C. Sawyer has been elected President of the Bar Association. Judge Sawyer has made a very able and successful record in his position.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The first day of the West Virginia Legislature was held in the State Capitol at Charleston, West Virginia, on Monday, June 21, 1904.

Gov. Carey is a union labor man, and it is not known whether he will give when it comes to the election of a United States Senator. He is a man of considerable ability and is in possession of a large number of the qualities of a good presiding officer.

When the Legislature assembled several bills have been taken for U. S. Senator, in which the Republicans have voted pretty solidly for Ford and the Democrats for Ford.

Nothing of importance has been done since from political dodging. The editorial of the New York World, denouncing President Cleveland for the overthrow of the Democratic party, was, as we have before shown, entirely unjust.

It is the one undisputed fact of the late campaign that was not a cloud in the Democratic sky when President Cleveland wrote his message. He said that message was a walk-out.

of late Judge County Superintendent was elected by a handsome vote.
The vote taken at Academy for a few months since was defeated by him.

—Dr. U. L. Austin and Maj. J. L.
Atwood, of Green Bank, were in town Tuesday. The Doctor says if a person were to depend upon the United States under the present administration there would be no certainty about getting married. On Friday last he mailed a dollar to the Clerk with the request to send to him with a marriage license, but to let him not dollar has yet reached the clerk so the Doctor had to come to town himself.

—The Pocahontas Musical Association held very pleasant sessions at Frost, May 23-25, under the direction of Prof. S. B. Moore, aided by a corps of Musical teachers, and organists. The attendance was large, and enthusiastic, and the interest in sacred music enhanced.
Prof. Crocker, Smith and Buckman, Capt. Gilmer, from Highland, Rev. O. P. Moore, Prof. A. C.
Moore and M. A. Friel, were among the more prominent of the lecturers.
Rev. O. B. Sharp, was secretary.
Misses Ida Herold, Nira Herold
Ida Smith and Mrs. Laura Herold rendered very efficient service upon the organ, that added much to the success of the convention. Outlines of an address, to be published by request of the convention, may be looked for in our next issue.

—Geo. Martens, a young man about 17 years old, was instantly killed yesterday, Thursday, near his home, two miles east of Beverly,
by the accidental discharge of a gun
in his own hands. He had his gun ready to shoot a squirrel on a tree near by, and it is supposed that in getting that he had it cocked and it fired on the ground with sufficient force to discharge it, the ball entering his breast and passing through his body before it struck the skin. He clapped his hands upon the wound and ran about twenty-five yards, when he fell and instantly expired. A younger brother, who saw the accident, immediately informed his parents and the father body was carried to the house near
by. He was a quiet, industrious, well behaved boy, and the tragedy has cast a gloom over the community.—Enterprise.

PRUNELLA
The Bookhampton papers say they have an exhibition in that town now, a portion of the skeleton of a giant, which, when living measured twenty-eight feet in height. One half of the jaw bone, extending from the point of the chin to the back, measures twenty eight inches and weighs sixty five pounds. Three front teeth are missing, the balance, four molars, are intact and about the size of a put. cup. The tibia or shin bone, from the knee to the ankle, measures about five feet; a portion of the lower extremity however, is gone. The rib bone is about thirty three inches in length.

There is also an exhibition of the jaw bone and shin bone of an ordinary sized man. The decomposition is the one correspond exactly with the one also from the same source. This decomposition was created by a Mr. Hen-gus, in the northern part of Louisiana, in 1878, and it is estimated to have weighed when living, eight thousand pounds.

Minnesota has a law on the subject of intoxication, the operation of which will be extended with a view of interest. It makes it a crime to be drunk, either in public or in private, and it is punishable by fine and imprisonment.

There is, in our mind, something wholesome in this law, and we believe it will accomplish more in the way of reducing the intemperance than any legislative act devised. It will prevent the frequency of the example, and increase accordingly, the degree of the crime.

Make it odious to be intoxicated
—as it ought to be—and there will be fewer cases of drunkenness, and

and my watch certainly all wide awake at the moment of the collision. The only explanation I can give is that they were somehow caught and crushed. I drifted during the rest of the night, and was picked up in the morning by a vessel bound in. By that time the wreckage had drifted apart until nothing could be found. Nothing whatever was picked up or cast up on any shore, and had I not been saved, the fate of the bark could only have been guessed at.

What did she collide with? The lookouts were on the bow, and alert and the night so clear that a ship could have been seen a mile away. The chart showed clear water for a hundred miles about, and we must have run full tilt upon some vessel which had been dismasted and bilged in the hurricane. I floundered with timber, her decks would have been awash, and she would have been as bad as a rock to collide with. There was only one shock, and the whole bows of the bark were crashed in by it.

Three years later, while off the Banks of Brazil in a small English ship called the White Cloud, another strange thing happened. I was first mate of this ship, and about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the weather being very fine and the wind light, I had all the men on deck setting up the rigging, some of which had slackened away. A man aloft suddenly hailed the deck with the information that a large whale was bearing down on the ship head on. We were a merchant vessel, and the sight of a whale had no interest for us. We went on with our work for three or four minutes, when the man again hailed me with:

"If that fellow holds his course he will be dead in no time. He's a big fellow, and coming like an iron steamer."

I ran forward to get a look, and the sea was so smooth, that I had no difficulty in making out the whale. He was still a mile away, coming down at about steamer speed, and holding a course as straight as if somebody aboard of him was steering by compass. I was not a bit alarmed, expecting to see him show flukes every moment, but the Captain came on deck and ordered the man at the wheel to break off two or three points. This brought the whale on our port bow. As I told you, I expected to see him round every moment. It was astonishing that he had not discovered us long before. I could scarcely believe my eyes as he held on, and by and by we had him alongside. I am telling you the truth when I say he actually rubbed us as we passed each other, and the odor of him was so rank that some of the men cried out in disgust. That whale was ninety feet long if he was an inch, and he had a head on him like a brick wall. So far as we could see, he was carrying no harpoons and had no fresh wound, but he was more grown and torn, as if he had been knocked about for a couple of hundred years. The fact of his holding his own in such a hull-headed way was alarming, and when we were clear of him we felt his gratingly mauling from the close shave.

We were perhaps a mile apart when the whale started around. The moment we discovered what he was doing we knew that he meant to attack. The men had one idea away from me, and we had no time to dodge him, and he had not yet fairly turned when he dropped the yawl from the davits and ran her alongside to the bows. Two men were ordered to get water and provisions into her, and as the whale headed up for us we went off before the light breeze to give him all the room we could. Three or four minutes settled the question of whether he was after the ship or sailing his own course. He headed up for her, coming faster and faster, and when he was two cables length away there was a great white wall of water rolling before him, and his speed was from eighteen to twenty miles an hour. He struck us full on the starboard quarter, and the shock was as if two ships had collided. Planks and ribs gave way before him, and as he recoiled from the blow our ship settled down stern first and was under water within two minutes. Everybody was knocked down by the shock, and everybody got up to rush for the yawl. I was sucked down almost as soon as I reached my feet, and after a struggle, in which I came out first, but by a close shave, I was shot to the surface amid a lot of deck rattle. There were two or three men around me at first, and as I was heaved up I caught sight of the yawl with at least two men in her. The whale was still at hand, lying very quiet, but I feared he would soon be aroused and attack us in turn, and I seized the galley door and paddled away to get out of his reach. While doing this a squall came down and hung on for twenty minutes, and when it had passed I could see nothing of boat nor whale.

That afternoon, an hour before sundown, I was picked up by the American whaler Richard Knux. She already had our yawl, which she had found bottom up, but had not seen any of the men nor met with any wreckage. I was again the only one saved, and but for my testimony the fate of the ship would have forever remained a mystery. As to why the whale attacked us was made more clear after my rescue. The Knux had raised and chased him the evening before, and he had been "galled" or annoyed so often during the month past that he had become ugly. He came for us with the intention of sending the ship to the bottom, and he succeeded only too well in carrying out his purpose.

A third mystery was the case of the Janet Wilcox, an American brig bound for Rio Janeiro. I was second mate of her when the occurrence took place. We had had weather but a good share of the voyage, but the brig was very stout and was at no time in much peril. About 300 miles off Rio, while enjoying a bit of good weather, we one morning raised a long boat full of men dead ahead of us. Indeed, the boat had taken down her sail and was waiting for us to come up. There were nine men aboard of her, and they had plenty of water and provisions. The story they told was that they were a part of the crew of a large British ship which had been inland two days before. They claimed that all had got off in the boats, but that the boats had become separated in the heavy weather. They were a hard looking lot, composed of all nationalities, and when we had taken them aboard our captain was in no mood satisfied with their story. One of them claimed to be second mate, and as the crew had all got off in two boats, it was impossible that the first mate was not in command of one. Other strange things came up, and the story of the men did not hang together, and on all hands were ordered to keep an eye on the fellow.

We got a good start of what and had run down to within five or six miles of the coast when the fellow showed their hands. They had been allowed to mingle freely with our crew, but had secretly obtained from a woman's table case that they had an evil purpose in view. Their boat was large and seaworthy, and we had feared it of us rather than to cast it loose or to attempt to bait it round.

I was on watch from eight to twelve and nothing suspicious occurred during the first three hours. About 11 o'clock, as I stood near the stern of the boat, I was hailed from the foremast with:

"Mr. Martin, will you please step forward and take a look at something we can't make out?"

I afterward recalled that it was not the voice of one of my watch, but I did not heed the matter at the time. I started forward, and had reached the water of the vessel when two men seized me, lifted me clear of the deck, and before I could recover from my astonishment was flung overboard head first. It was more by instinct than any plan of my own that I swam for the boat towing astern. Had the brig not been sailing close aboard, and therefore sailing at a moderate pace, I should not have reached it. It was a close shave, and as I hung to the gunwale for a moment I heard a great confusion on the brig. It was mutiny, of course, and I was the first victim. My idea was to get aboard again as soon as possible, and the only way was to get in into the yawl, pull her close up, and then climb up the mast. After an effort or two I pulled myself in, and just then there were shots and cries and pistol shots from the brig, followed by a couple of splashes alongside, which meant that two bodies, living or dead, had gone overboard. I had hold of the painter when I was hoisted from above, and I drifted rapidly astern. The fight continued as long as was within hearing. I was out of it entirely and could only hope that our crew, who were all good men, would overcome the mutiny in the struggle.

After the brig was out of sight I got sail on the boat, and followed her to the best of my judgment. It was just in the act of turning that I was picked up by a British ship bound into Rio. It wasn't very mysterious that we picked up the boat and that her crew attempted to capture me, but it certainly was queer that from the hour she left us to this day that brig has never been heard of. But for my escape she would have been listed as lost, and the insurance paid. As it was the insurance company contested payment, and when those came to court. The insurance of that day, at least, did not provide for any such emergency. The vessel and merchant service of every power was notified of the circumstances, and for two or three years every sea was under observation, but the brig was never sighted, nor any of her old crew heard of. My idea is that she foundered within a few days with all hands, but otherwise, for she certainly did not turn up, and she was never heard of as a wreck. There is no such British ship as the Janet Wilcox, and she was certainly not in such a boat. There must have been lying in wait, and it is quite true that they would be so far out in sea in such a boat. Taken all in all, it was a strange case, and no one has ever got the truth and of the threat to solve the mystery.

A Little Hand.

Perhaps there are hundreds, sweetest things.
Somewhere in this sun-bright land,
But I think the land for the blindest,
And the clasp of a little hand.
A little hand that softly holds Who I cannot find the truth that I have To hold.
To strengthen me on the way
When it seemed that the path was down On the crest of the greatest dove
But it's blind and the faintest
Were strong in the strength of love.
It seemed to say in a language that was
"I love you and understand,
And calm my fears as my love, heart Tears."
Full over that little hand.

Package there are hundreds, sweetest things.

Somewhere in this sun-bright land,
But I think the land for the blindest,

The Moon and the Weather.

Adam Foregough sat on a hill Looking on the elevated walk. "Chicago!" said he, "why Chicago is the greatest show town in the world, and then the moon—why, we've got another week of the moon before the change."

"What's that got to do with it?" the reporter asked.

"A good deal," he answered. "With a dry moon. Whenever you see a moon in its full it never rains."

The above conversation took place one afternoon, and within thirty days thereafter the first rains in several weeks were falling.

Of all surprising pseudo-expectations, that of the influence of the moon on the weather does the most evil, and the latter that the so-called "changes" of the moon are actually caused by the change in the atmosphere is still to be found among a very large number of uneducated and uneducated people.

A recent writer in The English Magazine has examined the grounds of this belief and attributes it to the weather predictions in the almanac of the early part of the century.

As to the moon "changing," one would imagine, to hear the majority of people talk, that a "change" of the moon is to make some change with a surprising trick, in which the performer, after showing that he has nothing in his hand, instantly produces an egg, an orange, or a ball from it. Now nothing could well be further from the truth than this, the fact being that the moon is always changing.—In seconds after it she is waning, and so throughout her monthly path, When her (pretended) longitude is identified with that of the sun she is said to be in the "first quarter," when they are separated by the distance the moon is "full," and when she has traveled to that point in her orbit in which she is in degrees to the west of the sun she is said to be in her "last quarter." In each month being assumed that she is viewed from the earth's center. The line of the moon's "change" (that is, her position with her position in these four points of her orbit, is a fiction, there is no change.

"But," people are heard to say,
"as the moon influences the influence should not the moon's change have some effect?" To which the immediately obvious reply is that the moon's change is a mere illusion, and that, on this principle, the weather ought to change twice a day when the moon is in the "first quarter" and twice a day when it is in the "last quarter." Nevertheless the moon does influence the atmosphere by causing the production of it in the in minute an under ordinary circumstances, to be marked by other disturbances. The existence of these atmospheric tides was first definitely established by the observations of the late Professor Daniel, but if these monthly tides influenced the weather in the slightest degree it must, change twice a day—a supposition too ridiculous to merit notice.

The moon on her back, as a good deal like the old woman's indign look—if the day was pure "beclouded with pink or apricot," she disembodied which? Mr. Fore-gough says like a "dry moon," but in many parts of the country, and uniformly in England, the belief prevails that when the young moon is "lying on her back"—in other words, when the line joining her poles is nearly or quite parallel to the horizon line, "holding water," and rain will certainly follow. How either belief arose it would be idle to speculate, but the explanation of the phenomenon itself is sufficiently simple. In the outset the moon is never much more than a degree either to the north or south of the equator, or apparent annual path of the sun through the heavens. Now the line adjoining her poles (the sharp points of her crescent), is always square to a great circle passing through the sun and the moon.
Two minutes' study of a celestial globe will show how variable is the inclination of the equator to the horizon, and consequently that of the line joining the cusps of the moon also.

Finally, the most elaborate comparisons of meteorological records made in France and in England (where the Greenwich observations for last years were carefully related) with the moon's phases during that period have sufficed to show that no connection whatever exists between them. The solitary observable effect of the moon upon our atmosphere was believed by John Herschel to be exhibited in the tendency to disappearance of clouds under the full moon, and this he attributed to the heat radiated from her surface.—Chicago News.

Produce for Export.

One of the most important questions with which our national and state legislatures have to deal, and yet one that is too generally neglected, is that of the preservation of the forests. Independent of the fact that they add to the wealth of the nation at the rate of $700,000, annually, or ten times more than the output of all of our gold and silver mines—which alone ought to secure for them proper care—the significant conclusion reached by scientific men, in the advice that they determine, to a great extent, the climate and the hygienic conditions of our country, and regulate the distribution of commodities and the character of both our gold and silver mines, certainly place the preservation of our forests among the subjects that should receive the most constant and careful consideration of our legislature.

It is estimated by experts who have devoted much time and thought to the inquiry that at least one per cent of the entire agricultural region of any country should remain permanently in forests.
Twenty years ago it was estimated that the annual clearance of woodland throughout the United States amounted to 10,000,000 of acres, and that at this rate individual owners would ultimately be strik-ed of their holdings. And it is not only the fact that in destructive to forests. Burning agriculture and fire are quite as detrimental.

To these injurious agencies, great has added the enterprising and responsible railroad construction, who annually clearings 30,000,000 acres our young trees in his quest for fuel.
Taking these and other agencies of cut forests into account, it will be seen that but for the energetic action of our national and state governments the terrible calamity of the entire vanishing away of the natural covering of the soil would be among the possible events of the future—a disaster that would, in half a century, reduce the greater part of the continent to the condition of a desert landscape of importing man or beast.

Not is this a mere flight of the imagination. It may seem to the superficial observer to verge on the extraneous to talk of a possible timber famine in a country so vast as ours, and one that was so lately reclaimed from the "forest primi-val," but it is an undeniable fact that we are cutting down our trees far more rapidly than we are planting them, and although our timber lands are vast, they are being cut down so rapidly that they are being cut down so rapidly that they are being cut down so rapidly that they are being cut down so rapidly that passed in the 70th year of his age. In the death of Joseph Board Pocahontas county loses one of her ablest and most respected citizens, whose long and eventful life is honorably and inseparably identified with the history of the county. He was born in Frederick county, W. Va. on the 30th day of Sept., 1810, and removed to Pocahontas county in the year 1837. Early in life he was united in marriage to Mattie Jordan, daughter of John Jordan, Esq., with whom he happily lived till the day of his death, and who now survives him an aged and lonely widow. As the issue of this marriage were born three children one son, John J. Board, the present Clerk of the Courts of Pocahontas county, and two daughters, Mrs. Isaac McNeil, and Mrs. Wm. L. McNeil, now deceased.

In the year 1853 Mr. Board made a profession of religion and connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1814 when the division came, Joseph Board without hesitation cast his lot with the M. E. Church, South.

His life was marked with unusual energy and activity, but in no enterprise was this more manifest than in his labors for his Church. He was not a religious enthusiast, nor specially demonstrative, but unceasingly gave those better and more substantial evidences of a firm and abiding faith in Christ and his Church. In the prosecution of church work of every kind, he was always ready to do his part, and never slow to suggest to others their duty when the occasion demanded.

He was a man of firm convictions and decided opinions, yet ever maintained a liberal respect for the belief of others. There never lived more sincere man, devoid of no show in the make up of his character. Indeed his habit of telling the truth plainly, and his outspokenness in commending the good and reproving evil sometimes false led those who were not well acquainted with him to think him in some matters a harsh man, but he was not so; underneath the surface of solid belief and right conduct was a heart as tender as the heart of a child, the sympathies of which responded to the gentlest word. His generosity and hospitality were proverbial, the friend of the stranger were over his welcome guests, nor did he ever weary of showing the comfort of his home to as many as chose to partake of them. He was possessed of a naturally happy nature; disappointment nor calamity could never bring for any time his cheerful mood. It was his rule to always be content and to be satisfied with his result.

He was willing and widely he minded, was affectionate and indulgent toward his kindred, and true in his friendship. He was a good and faithful citizen, ever ready to contribute in any manner to the good of his country. But out of all will be missed by his death, whose interests were first in his heart. His life is ended, but his memory will live on.

My heart aches at the above sad news to have, exist one who, not only active, but in his old age, was so full of vigor and energy. Such as the death of him and his family, who were so much loved and so much missed, is a great loss to the community. His death is a great loss to the community. His death is a great loss to the community.

these highly desired improvements. The genius that prompted the suggestion ought to be equal to the execution or taxation of plan of operation. I am still in favor of divorcing cattle and have practical proofs to show its merits every day. I have just learned from a reliable source that my friend Dick Edmonson, of Kansas has removed the horns from 5,000 cattle last fall. I am trusting in some boundary, horses, cows and bulls, with perfect safety, and now after two months past, my animals look well in order, better in appearance and decidedly more comfortable to themselves and me. As far as I am interested, horns will have to go. The present hard times and dullness of the cattle market, demands a thoughtful consideration of every economical device or plan by which our farmers and stockmen may reduce their expenses and, hence, their stock to better advantage. I think this one step in that direction. I will now suggest one or two more, and would be very happy to hear of other and wiser heads to make an expression of their views and opinions thereby benefiting their fellow men and making the Times a necessity to every family in the county.

But few farmers in this locality that do not use fertilizers, and believe that they pay, notwithstanding the heavy tax they are subject to. What say? Profits of the middle men, perhaps the largest. Then excessive freight. To illustrate: one of our middlemen will handle and sell for less than a ton, dollar point per ton, fifteen more, then they secure another profit by charging their customer rates of freight per 100 lbs when they get reduced rates per carload of 10 tons. If you pay $20.00 per ton at the railroad in an agent, you can very readily see that you are paying $20.00 to $25.00 for agents profit and high freight then if you buy in time, 10 per cent. to add to cost. The remedy is this, let our farmers pool their orders, select one of their number to get manufacturers, by making bids for the order, and by paying spot cash, get their freight rates $10.00 to $12.00 per ton less. We all have ourselves to blame for a great deal unnecessary loss. A cooperative style of buying railroad groceries, if nothing else would run down the expense of the farmer very materially. Every year, half now by our load will only cost $1.30 per sack, instead of $1.75 to $1.90.

Attorney vs. County Commissioners. Now that the fourth of March is rapidly drawing near, by which time the law requires that the grand jury shall have selected from this county, and in view of the fact that Mr. Boardman himself has declined to take Mr. Boardman's nomination, it is probable that the grand jury will be organized by the next first of March. It was per haps his will to require this month what celebrated case. In the meantime, when the records were examined by Mr. Boardman, the county commissioners returned to allow these witnesses to be cross-examined by witnesses introduced by the frequent and refused to sign bills of exceptions until the emergency should be a remedy required there to make a record. Then Mr. Boardman prepared an application for a writ of habeas corpus, and the county commissioners refused to sign bills of exceptions until the emergency should be a remedy required there to make a record.

The town of Norfolk, Kan., was wiped out by a cyclone last week.

There is going on in Richmond, Va., a tremendous religious upheaval among the negroes.

Frank W. Palmer, of Illinois, has been appointed Public Printer. The newspaper offices along the rail ways leading out of Washington will now print for a deluge of trunk printers.—E.

Where is the increase in the price of wool that the republican organs told you about so positively just told a republican President was elected? In fact where is anything true shakiness told you?

EVERY fourth class postmaster were removed in Pennsylvania counties last week. Clarkson is getting in his work pretty fast.—Harrison Democrat.

Mr. Democrat we haven't heard of them as yet.

There are five banks and six newspapers and an average daily sale of fifty dollars worth of postage stamps in Guthrie, Oklahoma, a town which did not exist prior to April 22nd. In a few days more we may expect to hear it boasting, with the rest of its occidental contemporaries of the finest opera house west of the Mississippi?

Where is the protection to American labor that you republicans talk about? We don't know where it is but there is one thing we do know, that there are thousands of working men working for whatever compensation they can get, and thousands upon thousands who are out of employment altogether, and have large families in a starving condition.

West Virginia is talking a phenomenal boom. More miles of railroad will be constructed during the present year than in any other one year in her history, and she is a Democratic state, too. Our republican friends who are continually howling about old loggers and moonshiners and claiming that nothing but a Republican administration can attract capital into a state, should make a note of this.—Charleston Daily Star.

Rather a funny little episode happened near Philippi last week. A young man went to the clerk of the court and obtained a permit to wed a young lady. On his way home he called at the residence of another young lady, to whom he had been paying some attention, and exhibited to her his license to wed her rival. She, with rather more spirit than her sex usually possesses, getting the paper into her possession, very deliberately proceeded to tear it to pieces, and consign it to the flames, and the young man was compelled to postpone the wedding to another day.—Nicholas Chronicle.

The New York World was in Mr. Cleveland's conduct, since his retirement from the Presidency, many evidences that he again aspires to become his party's leader in the next National struggle. It sees in Mr. Harrison's disregard of the civil service, and the constant disgust of the ingroup element with the President, an opportunity for Mr. Cleveland. It says: "If Mr. Cleveland ran and will make himself the exponent and champion of the real ideas and true principles of Reform—reform in politics, reform in administration, reform in legislation, reform in justice—his nomination would be quite possible, and he would have a vigorous supporter in the World."

Is it possible that the World is beginning to arrive at the light at last? It lists a number of reforms which it would have Mr. Cleveland make himself the champion and exponent of, on condition of its vigorous support. Will could Mr. Cleveland say to this proposition? "All these things have I kept from my youth up." The World knows that it is setting no pattern for Mr. Cleveland. He walked the reformer's path all through his administration, and hence his defeat. No man could have done more than he in the way of the reform indicated—because no man was ever more honest, or firmer than he. The open opposition of the World to Mr. Cleveland began the very hour of his inauguration, and was force, relentless and unjust from that day till now. We are glad to see it ready to acknowledge at last that the man to lead the Democracy to victory in 1892 is Grover Cleveland.—Huntersville Herald.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May 16th.—Harrison made the last appointment that he has yet made when he selected Ex-Gov. Thompson, of South Carolina, as the democratic member of the Civil Service Commission. Gov. Thompson was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Cleveland's administration, and was during the last days of Congress appointed by Mr. Cleveland to the same position he has just received from a Republican President, but the Senate did not act on his nomination.

There is a swooping and snatching of teeth among the little crowd of late applicants for the position of Public Printer, five of whom are understood to have made a combination, each promising to give the other four appointments in the office if made Public Printer, over the fact that the corrected price has gone to Ex-Congressman Frank W. Palmer, formerly postmaster at Chicago. Whether Harrison suggested the "combination" which these applicants had entered into I can not say, but it is known that some days ago he told a gentleman that he should not appoint any of the applicants up to that time and asked him to name a good man for the office. Palmer was named, and after further investigation the office was tendered to him, and he accepted it. When the appointment was made public it was really amusing to see the members of the "combination" chafing around trying to find somebody to introduce them to the new Public Printer so they could get in their applications for the "hot" positions under him. It is thought that one of these men, Donahoe, nominally of Pennsylvania, really of the District of Columbia, may lose his mind so great a shock has the disappointment been at not being made Public Printer. He was so certain that he was to get the appointment that he had already given away several of the most important places in the Government Printing office.

It is evidently the purpose of the republican politicians to make the census bureau an asylum for their political proteges. The Interior Department has decided that the appointments in this bureau will have next year when it gets regularly to work, over 1200 clerks, besides an army of special agents, and the most of these will be kept for two years or longer. It will be a great convenience in promoting republicans to use these positions to pay off their political debts, and if the appointments were made under civil service rules that would be impossible.

The first of the fifteen contested election cases which are to come before the Fifty-first Congress was argued by the Chief of the House this week. It was Calmes vs. Morgan, of the second Mississippi District.

Harrison having provided a snug place for his brother is now, so it is said, about to appoint Blaine's brother to one of the most lucrative local offices in Washington Register of Wills.

The new Secretary of Agriculture in order to prove his familiarity with farming implements, and maybe to get solid with the farmers of the country, put in a half an hour of the morning with a scythe in the grounds surrounding his department, one day this week. Of course he was suitably ignorant of the fact that several newspaper men had their eyes on him during the entire performance.

Republicans are already beginning to compare Harrison with Hare and Arthur, they say that he is timid almost to the extent of cowardice.

It is said that the Post office Department is appointing clerks in the Railway Mail Service and fixing their appointments in April in order to avoid compliance with civil service rules under which all such appointments should have been made since May.

Senator Gorman thinks that Calvin B. Fries will be elected chairman of the National democratic committee to succeed the late Senator Harpnum. This is taken here to mean that Senator Gorman will not accept the position.

Theodore Roosevelt of N. Y., who has just been appointed as one of the republican Civil Service Commissioners, is a pronounced free trader. Fanny isn't it, that a man elected President solely because he was a rigid protectionist should give such a prominent appointment to a free trader?

The newspaper man's lock has not yet deserted him. The new Public Printer is a member of the fraternity.

For THE TIMES.
These mountains cross the river, the lonely rock and dark, the human mind, no human step, I see no mark.

The stream comes, the stream goes, white snow flakes gently fall, the trees take on their fresh green leaves.

But still the silence sits! If I could see a child at play, or sturdy husband's walk, something to break the loneliness, something with which to talk.

I gaze until the twilight comes, then darker down as we, and someone to my wanted talk, what the silence may be.

If sadness reigns, or quiet, if friends are seen or kind, if duty, the bright and guiding star, United God's rest we find.

MRS. ANNA L. PRICE,
Marion, W. Va., May 1889.

In the Threat of a Gun.

BY CHAS. EDWARD S. TAYLOR.

"I can never look upon one of those writhing, slimy things without a shudder," said my friend, Colonel Paul Ballantyne, as we three (his pretty South American wife was of the party) stood in front of the box constrictor's cage in the serpent house at the Philadelphia Zoological Garden.

"And yet, dear," interposed Mrs. Ballantyne—and she laid her hand lovingly upon her husband's arm, and looked up into his handsome face with a wealth of love glowing in her lustrous brown eyes—"if it had not been for the serpent you would probably never have met me. But perhaps you regret that?" she added, with a pretty pout.

"Ah, that was the recompense!" said the Colonel, and he eyed her fondly. "But for that, I think I could never have summoned up my steeple enough to again look upon one of the monsters. As it is I cannot repress the shudder, and in fancy I feel myself again being sucked down to death."

"You had an adventure, Colonel?" I ventured.

"Adventure!" he echoed. "Well, I should say so. The most horrible a man ever experienced. But you dine with us to-day, and then I'll tell you the story."

He did, and gave me permission to print it, which I have done with out material alteration, and with the substitution of fictitious names for the real actors who will doubtless read and recognize this history.

Three years ago my friend was sent to Venezuela, as the agent of a firm of mahogany importers, who had purchased some valuable forestry concessions in that country.

The lumber tract lay along the banks of one of the branches of the Orinoco river, about one hundred and fifty miles above the lake of Maracaibo.

The Colonel examined the tract, selected a site for a logging camp, and proceeded to La Guayra, purchased supplies, and engaged a native Venezuelan, named Gaspar Mendoza, to superintend the logging.

Indian lore was to tell the trees could be engaged in any quantity in the vicinity of the mahogany forest.

Mendoza was a slightly built, curly-haired fellow, with an enormous life-tamper, to which he gave way at the slightest provocation. He was accompanied by an Indian servant, named Jose, who was much attached to his master.

Colonel Ballantyne had several ready assistants with his felling, so the way up the river, and he began to regret having engaged an unmanageable assistant, but Mendoza so thoroughly understood his work and soon convinced his employer that he was worth more than the liberal salary that was paid him.

The camp was established, a corps of native axe men engaged and preparations were made to get together the material for a big mahogany raft, which would be floated down to the mouth of the bayou, where the precious wood would be loaded in vessels sent out by the firm which employed the Colonel.

Accompanied by Jose, who was familiar with woodcraft, the Colonel made daily excursions into the forest in all directions, to locate and mark the trees.

The tract proved to be a rich one. Mahogany trees were there by the thousand, and the forest was intersected by creeks in all directions, along which timber might readily be floated to the bayou, and thence to the river.

They had been in camp about a week, and the work was progressing satisfactorily, when Mendoza, who had heretofore been kept too busy to quarrel, got into a dispute with his employer, and had it not been for the interference of some of the Indian workmen, one would have shot the other, for both men drew their pistols.

After they had both had time to cool down, the Colonel, who is naturally of the most forgiving disposition, apologized to his antagonist, and requested that the matter be forgotten.

He held out his hand in token of amity, but Mendoza, with a shrug of his shoulders, and a contortion of his dark face, turned on his heel and walked away.

That night he and Jose held a long conversation, which was carried on in a low tone of voice, but although they looked frequently toward the Colonel and exchanged significant glances, he did not dream that they were plotting treachery.

The next morning the Colonel and Jose started, as usual, for a short expedition in the forest.

It was a frosty day, with the Indians, and they were making merry in the camp.

Jose carried a small hatchet for marking the trees, and over his shoulder was slung a haversack, containing lunch.

The Colonel walked in advance, armed only with a small rifle.

By noon they were ten miles from the camp, and further down the bayou than they had ever been before.

When they stopped for luncheon near a small spring, Jose informed his patron that they were only a few miles distant from the extensive rubber and indigo plantation of General Antonio de Silva, who controlled leagues of forest land in the vicinity, and from whom the American mahogany merchants had purchased the logging right.

After lunch the Colonel lighted his pipe, and leaned his back against a great tree-trunk to enjoy an after dinner smoke.

Near by was a clump of low bushes, bearing a yellowish berry and he asked Jose if they were good to eat.

Jose examined them, and immediately declared that they were excellent.

"I have often eaten them, down toward the coast, son," he said, "but I have never seen any before so far in the interior."

He tasted the berries, pronounced them delicious, but somewhat different in flavor from those growing near the coast, and picked some for the Colonel, of which the latter ate liberally, without any suspicion of evil effects, finding them, as Jose had declared, to be most delicious.

At the terrible thought, he made another effort to escape.

The movement disturbed the bushes, and again he dragged his back toward the river, and again the constricting action from behind began.

As long as he kept perfectly quiet the serpent seemed content to let matters take their course, and so to remain in a semi-relaxation condition.

He put down his left hand, feeling for, and in taste something like the raspberry.

He did notice that Jose ate only a couple, nor did he see the look of cunning exultation as the Indian's face.

Ten minutes after eating the first berry, the Colonel felt strongly exhilarated, and burst out into a rollicking college song with the inmates of his cell, who were intoxicated with alcohol.

His whole nervous system, even to his finger tips, tingled with pleasing excitement. He had a vague recollection of making a resolve to check his ludicrous enthusiasm; of seeing Jose glide away into the forest with his rifle over his shoulder, and a look of malignant hatred on his swarthy face; of struggling to his feet and calling to the Indian to come back, and then he rolled upon the ground and all became blank.

Not until the following day did consciousness begin to slowly assert itself. He then awoke, with a horrible sensation of helplessness.

The lower half of his body was numb and paralyzed by a terrible gradually constricting pressure from all directions.

His limbs appeared dead, and all the blood forced out of them into the upper part of his body. His eyes seemed starting from their sockets; there was a ringing in his ears, and he breathed with great difficulty.

His throat was hot and dry, and he was consumed with a raging thirst.

He was lying face downward, and having determined to throw off the stupor, he raised his hands to his head.

Instantly he was dragged backward several feet along the ground.

Horror and bewilderment made a frantic effort, moved himself on his elbows and looked about him.

He was half-suffocated in the throat of a monstrous box-constrictor!

The reptile had begun to swallow him without first crushing him with its coils, as is usually the case.

When the serpent moved, as in desecrating pickering color arose and almost sufficed the imprisoned man.

Madened at the loathsome prospect, the Colonel gave a hoarse scream of agony, and clutching frantically at the ground, struggled to release himself from the deadly embrace of the serpent's throat.

But the teeth of his destroyer were fastened in his back to root, and held him like a pair of long tongs, while the horrible suction pump below was worked with renewed energy.

The Colonel ceased his struggles, and looked about anxiously for Jose.

"What has become of him? Was he, too, being devoured, or was he already destroyed?"

If he was pursuing even those speculations, he suddenly remembered that just before consciousness was left him, the Indian had disappeared in the forest, and then, like a flash, he remembered the fellow's conference with Mendoza, and he realized that he had been left to perish.

At the terrible thought, he made another effort to escape.

—Geo. Marteny, a young man about 17 years old, was instantly killed yesterday, Thursday, near his home, two miles east of Beverly,
 by the accidental discharge of a gun
 in his own hands. He had his gun
 ready to shoot a squirrel on a tree near by, and it happened, that for getting that he had it cocked, set it down on the ground with sufficient force to discharge it, the ball entering his breast and passing through his body lodged just under the skin.
 He clasped his hands upon the wound and ran about twenty five yards, when he fell and instantly
 expired. A younger brother, who saw the accident, immediately informed his parents and the lifeless body was carried to the home near
 by. He was a quiet, industrious, well-behaved boy, and the tragedy
 has cast a gloom over the community. —Enterprise.

Sunday school was organized at this place Sunday the 19 last with an enrollment of forty.

Mr. Gibbs who has been visiting friends in this county and Miss C.
 Talbot who has been the guest of Col. Gatewood the past two weeks, left for their homes Wednesday morning.

Twenty three scholars enrolled at the Big Spring school.

Capt. Stoffer was over on Elk a few days ago but as he was afraid of snakes he did not stay long.
 One morning he met two ladies who had started to gather wild flowers. They saw a very large snake and called to Capt. Stoffer, after he had passed to come back and help to kill it, but he pulled off his hat and ran until he reached Col. Gatewood's. There the ladies found him an hour afterwards sitting in a comfortable arm chair, he thought they killed the snake and when they went to Capt. Stoffer jumped up and said: "Wasn't that a monster snake we killed ladies?"

PRUNELLA

The Buckhannon papers say they have on exhibition in that town now, a portion of the skeleton of a giant, which, when living measured
 twenty-eight feet in height. One
 from the point of the chin to the
 back, measures twenty-eight inches
 and weighs sixty five pounds. Three
 front teeth are missing, the balance,
 four molars, are intact and about the size of a pint cup. The tibia or shin bone, from the knee to the
 ankle, measures about five feet; a portion of the lower extremity from knee to foot, is gone. The rib cage is about thirty three inches in length.

 There is also on exhibition the pelvis bone and shin bone of an ordinary sized man. The disproportion in the one corresponds exactly with the other also the nerves, etc. This exhibition was described by a Mr. Rengan, in the northern part of Louisiana, in 1872, and it is estimated to have weighed upon living, eight thousand pounds.

Minnesota has a law on the subject of intoxication, the execution of which will be watched with a great deal of interest. It makes it a crime to be drunk, either in public or in private, and it prohibits for him and imprisonment.

There is, in our mind, something
 wholesome in this law, and we believe it will accomplish more in the way of returning the intoxicated than any legislation yet devised. It will prevent the frequency of the
 example, and increase accordingly, the discipline of the crime.

Makes it almost to be interdicted
 be fewer cases of drunkenness, and
 less use of intoxicating drinks.—
